The Lewis Rudin Glaucoma Prize

Program

The Lewis Rudin Glaucoma Prize of The New York Academy of Medicine was established in 1995 in honor of Lewis Rudin, the New York City real estate developer, and is funded by the May and Samuel Rudin Family Foundation with additional support provided by Mr. Jack Rudin.

This $50,000 prize is awarded for the most outstanding scholarly article on glaucoma published in a peer-reviewed journal during the previous calendar year. Nominations are solicited from leaders of the ophthalmologic community and reviewed in the spring of the award year.

One prize winner is recommended for ratification by the Academy's Board of Trustees by the Lewis Rudin Glaucoma Prize Selection Committee, a group of nationally recognized experts in glaucoma research chaired by David H. Abramson, MD of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center and Weill Medical College of Cornell University.

Eligibility

Nominees for this award must be the first or last author of the published work and must hold primary responsibility for the research. Authors may nominate themselves but may not submit multiple articles and must choose only one article to submit for consideration by the committee.

Award Notification

The prize winner is announced in July of the award year. All authors of the article receive recognition, however the monetary prize is granted solely to the primary researcher specified in the nomination.
